

WE ARE LOOKING FOR YOU...

Junior Front End and Mobile Developer

Jonny Fresh is a young and dynamic company that specializes into last mile delivery, with the current focus of dry cleaning and laundry to domestic and corporate customers. We are currently serving our customers in Berlin, Munich, Cologne, Hamburg, Frankfurt/Main, Hannover and Vienna. Given the leading position in the market and growth, we are looking to extend our development team to help us sustainably grow our in-house platform software solution.

Responsibilities

As part of the multinational team of developers you will have to:

- actively participate in development of the customer and inhouse Team facing software solutions
- implement quality driven with rich UI/UX software solutions
- assist in planning and design of UI/UX of our software solutions
- assist in planning and implementation of our connected solutions

Profile

For our Berlin based development team, we are looking for developers with:

- 1-2 years of experience in frontend development, specifically using JavaScript and/ or libraries like jQuery, Ionic, Angular
- good knowledge of HTML and CSS
- good knowledge and understanding of responsive and mobile first design
- good knowledge of Internet technologies and protocols

Your opportunity

We complement the exciting work with modern web technologies, as part of a multinational team, with:

- A high degree of creative freedom for you to develop your own knowledge – flat hierarchies and short decision-making channels, a great deal of freedom in your work
- flexible working environment and working hours
- The basics (compensation, benefits, drinks at work)
- Your future starts now – the position is available immediately